Job description for visual art lead

dabledoo is an independent Irish company dedicated to providing primary schools with the online resources, training and support to deliver arts education in primary schools. We are a team of educators, artists, musicians and designers with a passion for arts education and its potential to enrich the lives of children and create a better world.

At dabledoo we believe that every child should have the opportunity to experience quality arts education in primary school. We believe that every teacher should have the most accessible, engaging and relevant resources to make this possible.

We currently provide music and drama programmes for schools and are now developing a visual arts programme.

Job Overview

We are looking for a new full-time member of the team to develop our visual art programme for teachers, parents and children across Ireland.

Responsibilities

- To develop lessons, planning content and structure for our full primary school visual arts programme
- To work with the music lead and drama lead to integrate lessons and themes in line with the new primary school curriculum
- To work with our production team to create video content, animations and other online materials to make visual art more accessible in primary schools.

- To maintain, develop and promote the arts course as part of dabledoo's aim to lead a revolution in arts education.

Pay and Benefits

- Full time contract with a starting salary of €40K per year with annual review
- A range of employee benefits including health insurance and pension contribution
- Flexible hours and work location.
- Office and studio are in Dublin City centre.

Skills and Experience

- Enthusiasm and expertise in arts education
- Experience teaching in primary school classrooms
- An in-depth knowledge of the primary school curriculum
- Ability to work creatively and work in a self directed manner
- Ability to work as part of a small team in a collaborative way
- Willingness to learn and adapt to meet new ways of working
- Ability to work to tight deadlines
- Excellent organisation and communication skills
