Young Social Innovators

Young Social Innovators (YSI) is a not for profit education body which provides transformative innovation processes and programmes for students, primarily at post primary level in Ireland. Through YSI, educators, schools and communities facilitate and support youth led social innovation, which benefits the development of youth and communities. This is education which empowers young people strengthens youth voice and participation, and develops active local and global citizens for today and the future.

Since 2001, YSI is championing thinking and modelling around social innovation and entrepreneurial education. We are passionate about young people using their insights, experiences and voice to collaborate in order to create a better world: one which is more equal, inclusive, diverse, and sustainable.

The Opportunity

YSI is looking for someone who shares our passion and drive to make social innovation learning an option for all students in Ireland! He/she will hold a key management position within YSI and direct the formation and delivery of educational offerings for educators and young people. He/she will be taking the lead in our existing education programmes, as well as exciting new ventures. This includes the development of our multiple local area, school clusters, and our Social Innovation Learning Lab. They will oversee our internal research and ensure quality standards.

He/she will have a breadth of experience in learning and education and be able to demonstrate strong leadership, interpersonal, teamwork and management abilities. They will be passionate about social innovation and entrepreneurial learning.

The Person

The successful candidate will have the following skills:

General Management and Leadership- Excellent leadership skills and ability to motivate those around them. A self-starter who thinks strategically and translates high level goals to well-developed plans and systems. Ability to use resources effectively to achieve specific objectives. Creativity and Innovation-Ability for conceptual, innovative and critical thinking. Involvement in design based and innovative methods would be advantageous. Appreciation of creative processes and how to activate these.

Communication and Teamwork-Excellent verbal, written and presentation skills, e with the ability to represent strategic priorities with the ability to assimilate and share learning with others internally and externally.

Flexibility and Versatility—Ability to plan and manage multiple projects and deadlines. Open to travel to different parts of Ireland to support teams and attend some weekend meetings.

Relationship Builder-Identification, formation and development of a range of key education stakeholder relationships in relation to advancing YSI's strategic and local area goals.
