POST DETAILS

Title:

Research & Evaluation

Description:

The National Council for Special Education (NCSE) is an independent statutory body established to improve the delivery of education services to persons with special educational needs arising from disabilities with particular emphasis on children and young people.

The NCSE is currently undergoing a significant organisational expansion which will enhance the delivery of services. It has developed a service delivery strategy based on three fundamental values: community, inclusion, and excellence. The NCSE is determined to encourage all stakeholders to practice conscious inclusion and equity-mindedness. Working for the NCSE entails actively contributes to the advancement of inclusive education, ensuring that all students, regardless of their needs, receive the individualized support they require to completely participate in their day-to-day school activities.

The NCSE is now recruiting for the position of Research & Evaluation Officer- Assistant Principal Officer Grade. A panel will be formed from which existing and future vacancies will be filled. There is currently one vacancy to be filled, please see the link below for further information

The purpose of the role as Research and Evaluation Officer will focus on managing and delivering a programme of practice based research within schools as well as conducting research directly including evaluations of key NCSE supports and services the roles and responsibilities include:

- Oversee and manage all aspects of the NCSE's programme of practice-based research within schools and conduct the evaluation of the pilot phase.
- Conduct primary and secondary research including quantitative research, statistical and trend analyses, qualitative research and literature reviews.
- Conduct evaluation research on NCSE/DE services and supports, in particular for new and pilot initiatives.
- Produce research reports of a publishable and accessible standard along with easy to read summaries.
- Prepare analytical and discussion papers on relevant special education and inclusion issues as required and also in response to reports, policy advice and submissions.
- Manage commissioned research as required, including tendering, contract and budget management, research review and quality assurance and preparing reports for publication.
- Plan for and oversee the dissemination of key outputs from the NCSE research to target audiences through a variety of means.
